East and West join together

On July 28th this year, a unique service will take place at Brondeifi Unitarian chapel, Lampeter. On that Sunday, the Brondeifi congregation shall welcome members of the South East Wales District Unitarian Society (SEWUS, who have chosen a visit to Brondeifi as the main event for their annual summer rally. As Welsh Department Secretary, I was pleased to facilitate the initial arrangements between Brondeifi and SEWUS.

The bilingual service will be taken by Rev. Goronwy Evans at 11.00am. A special lunch will be provided after the service. Of Course, there is a warm welcome for all. As Department Secretary, I intend to travel up from Burry Port for this unique Service. I would encourage anyone who is free on the day to Go along to Lampeter to support the occasion, and to give a Warm welcome to the pilgrims that will have travelled all the Way from south east Wales!

Carmarthen Unitarians: rekindling the flame!

After a long delay, the meetings in Carmarthen are now re-established at Tabernacl Baptist chapel. A rota of monthly services has been organised as far as December. The services have attracted a variety of people, including some new faces and some non-Welsh speaking people, which is a new development for Unitarianism in west Wales. I would like to thank Rev. Wyn Thomas for presiding over a naming ceremony for my baby son, Gwyn, at the June service. Please contact me if you wish to have full details about the Carmarthen services.

Please remember – as Welsh Department Secretary I am prepared to visit your congregation if you wish to have a discussion or raise any matters of concern. With many thanks for your support,

Carwyn Tywyn, Welsh Department Secretary

Our Faith: Unitarian voices of Wales, 2013

The bilingual pamphlet "Our Faith" was published this year to mark the bicentenary of the Trinity Act, which removed the state penalties for Unitarian worship.

The booklet contains 28 statements of personal faith by Unitarians from all areas of Wales. "Our Faith" has already been used in order to enrich services and discussion groups.

Ceredigion Unitarians reaching out...

Following a series of far-reaching discussions, the South Wales Unitarian District Society (Ceredigion) is launching a series of social discussion evenings, with the intention of attracting some interest among local people. I look forward to supporting this interesting venture.
